The Historic Formation of PLGA

A decade of People's War Advances In Leaps

By December 2, 2010, it is one decade since the PLGA was formed. It has been proven in this decade that the formation of PLGA is a historic event. Such formation of a People's Army has never happened before in India's history. In this decade, PLGA advanced invincibly under the leadership of the proletariat, basing on the worker-peasant unity and bringing together the petty bourgeois and national bourgeois classes. Our PLGA is working as a detachment of the International Communist Red Army with the aim of making success the World Socialist Revolution and the New Democratic Revolution that is going on as part of it, under the leadership of CPI (Maoist). It won several successes in the past decade and is gradually developing its strength and efficiency to play its historic role. The successes won by the PLGA are as follows :

- ☆ The formation of Central, State/Special Area/Special Zone Military Commissions; Regional, Zonal/Divisional/District and Area level Military Commands and People's Militia Commands at Panchayat and Area level.

- ☆ The formation of PLGA as a structure with three kinds of forces that are interdependent on each other – Main, Secondary and Base forces.
- ☆ Development of People's Militia organizations that serve as a perennial source for recruitment into PLGA
- ☆ Coordination of People's War and mass struggles. PLGA stood in support of mass struggles and mass movements. For eg, Singur, Nandigram and Lalgarh in Paschim Bang; Narayanapatna, Kalinganagar and other struggles in Odisha; anti-bauxite struggle of Visakha in Andhra Pradesh; Surjagarh in Maharashtra; the struggles against various mining projects in Jharkhand (JH); anti-displacement struggles like Lohandiguda, Raoghat, Pallemadi, Bodhghat in DK.
- ☆ The PLGA which was at a budding stage when formed on December 2, 2000, gradually expanded and is developing to the level of companies and battalions; it is expanding with education, medical, technical, communications, supply, intelligence departments, military instructor teams and guard units and is taking steps towards the formation of PLA (a regular army).
- ☆ In hundreds of tactical counter-offensives and dozens of campaigns like Kalimela, Srisailam-Sundipenta, Garhwa, Jagpura, Balagunj, Yellamanda, Uppalada, Bara, Ladipur-Sahugunj, Chandrapura, Saranda-1, Japla, Koraput, Saranda-2, Chandoli, Giridih, Jahanabad, R.Udaigiri, NMDC, Ranibodili, Bokaro, Kiriburu, Goelkera, Nayagarh, Jhajha, Lakhisarai, Urpalmetta, Tadimetla-1, Tonguda, Battiguda, Markanar, Tavvetola, Madanveda, Laheri, Mukram, Kongera, Kajra, Mamayil and Saranda resistance (2010) – several offensives of the enemy were defeated. Moreover, two thousand enemy forces were wiped out and 2,500 arms and more than one lakh rounds of ammunition were seized. Hundreds of land lords, people's enemies, counter-revolutionaries, enemy agents, informers, coverters, various private armies and counter-revolutionary campaigns like Salwa Judum, Sendra, NASUS and Bhumi Sena, social fascist Harnad Vahini, Santi Sena goons, goonda

- ☆ In strategic areas where the political power of the enemy was destroyed, PLGA served as an excellent instrument to form Panchayat, Area and District level Revolutionary People's Committees (RPC).
- ☆ PLGA served as the principal instrument to fulfill political, organizational, propaganda, defence and production tasks.
- ☆ The Red Army detachment of India – the PLGA served as a ray of hope to oppressed and toiling masses and oppressed nations both inside our country and internationally.
- ☆ Arousing women who are half of the population and developing them in political, organizational, military, cultural and other spheres such that they can claim half their share in the struggle; helping working women gain self-reliance.

Comrades,

It is not possible to imagine a People's War in India without PLGA. As PLGA is a revolutionary political army, it works under the leadership of CPI (Maoist) and is able to develop into a strong force only by integrating with the oppressed masses. We must learn from these successes gained by the PLGA in People's War. PLGA also faced some defeats in the several battles it fought with the enemy. We must take lessons from them and work actively and with determination to bring a decisive change in our practice. We must prepare to double these successes in the coming decade. We must politically inspire young women and men from the oppressed classes and sections, particularly from the basic classes to join the PLGA. We must declare to them that there is no other way than the People's War to liberate ourselves from exploitation, oppression, tears and travails and that nothing comes out of the sham election farce. We must give the call to the people to join the People's Army in thousands and lakhs to establish the alternative New Democratic State under the leadership of the four oppressed classes.

Dare to Fight! Defeat the Operation Green Hunt launched to wipe out the revolutionary movement! Final Victory belongs to the People! ☆
