

South Africa

How much longer can South Africa stand? The ruling class is increasingly left with nothing but force to rely on, while never have the masses been so unafraid to die for liberation. From a number of angles, this situation is dissected and the challenges it presents analysed. What will it take to kill this monster?

Peru

As the Peruvian counterrevolution prepares to install a new chief executive executioner, the PCP carries out an election boycott and unleashes new military blows against the regime. A new pamphlet by the PCP Central Committee, the most important document from the PCP in the last three years, analyzes how things stand with the revolution and the counterrevolution. An historic May 1 message from the PCP to the Revolutionary Internationalist Movement declares to the world the internationalist content and aims of this revolution. Page 52

A World to Win is a quarterly published by World to Win, whose address is:
BCM World to Win
London WC1N 3XX, U.K.
1985.

This issue was printed by Russell Press, Bertrand Russell House, Forest Road West, Nottingham, U.K.
July 1985

STEP FORWARD!

A World to Win cannot accomplish its tasks without the active support of its readers. Letters, articles and criticism are needed and welcome. Manuscripts should be typed double spaced. In addition there are many other needs that you can help to fulfill:

Translation. A World to Win must be regularly published in as many languages as possible. This requires a large number of translators to take part in the network of the various language editions. Those potential translators who are not directly in touch with the language edition they are interested in should contact our London office. (If you are interested in putting out an edition in a language other than those A World to Win currently appears in, please contact us.)

Distribution. A World to Win must be made widely available in as many countries of the world as possible. This means that activists must develop multifaceted and creative methods for distributing it according to the conditions in their country as well as utilising regular commercial channels where possible. Local initiatives should be written up and communicated to us so that they can be centrally coordinated and summed up; we can also provide suggestions and materials to those who step forward to take up this essential work.

Art Work. A World to Win needs the assistance of artists engaged in the revolutionary movement. Drawings, cartoons, paintings and other art work should be sent to us. In particular, it is necessary that we receive clippings and original photographs from all around the world.

Funds. The price charged for A World to Win does not begin to cover the full expenses of putting it out. We are therefore reliant on the financial contributions of those who understand the importance of the continued publication of this magazine and those who undertake responsibility for raising funds. Send pledges and donation cheques made out to "A World to Win" directly to our London office.

A World to Win* Advertising

Unlike most periodicals, A World to Win will not rely on advertising for its financing. Nevertheless, future issues of A World to Win will accept advertising that its editors feel is not in conflict with the overall aims and purposes of the journal. In particular we are encouraging revolutionary political parties and organisations, progressive periodicals, mass organisations, etc. to use purchased advertisements in A World to Win. Rates are available upon request.

The Communists disdain to conceal their views and aims. They openly declare that their ends can be attained only by the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions. Let the ruling classes tremble at a Communist revolution. The proletarians have nothing to lose but their chains. They have a world to win.

WORKERS OF ALL COUNTRIES, UNITE!

—The Communist Manifesto 1848

You have in your hands the third issue of A World to Win, a new quarterly dedicated to an "old" idea: the proletariat of all countries faces the task of wrenching the world away from those who currently dominate, distort, and even threaten to destroy large parts of it; that those who up until now have been the victims of history must become its masters; that exploitation, oppression, and class-divided society, far from being the natural order of things, stand as the barrier to the further advance of humanity.

An "old" idea certainly, and one for which millions of martyrs have given their lives on battle fronts all over the world since Marx and Engels issued their famous call. But an idea which has lost none of its vitality or urgent necessity and continues to correspond to the reality of the contemporary world.

A World to Win contributes to the revolutionary process by providing analysis and commentary on vital developments in the world and in the revolutionary movement. It gives no quarter to imperialism and reaction, and its exposure will aim at East and West alike. A World to Win will not remain aloof from the key struggle to rebuild the unity of the exploited and oppressed the world over, to overcome the crisis in the international communist movement which came to a head following the reactionary coup d'etat in China after Mao's death, and to create the political expression of this unity, a Communist International of a new type based on Marxism-Leninism-Mao Tsetung Thought. In this sense A World to Win has been inspired by the formation of the Revolutionary Internationalist Movement, announced on March 12, 1982, which has regrouped many Marxist-Leninist parties and organisations from around the world. A World to Win reports on the development of this movement and on its participating parties and organisations and will strive to assist this movement in becoming a more powerful force throughout the world.

But A World to Win is not an official organ of the RIM and its pages are open to all those on the same side of the barricades in the fight against imperialism and reaction. It is a journal which reflects the growing unity of the Marxist-Leninist forces, but which recognises that for such unity to grow stronger, vigorous debate and struggle will be necessary. It is a journal of combat against those condescending saviours who, masquerading in the name of "socialism" or "communism," betray the aspirations of the oppressed and try to suppress their struggle (or turn it into a battering ram to replace one clique of exploiters by another), but which knows that opportunism cannot merely be denounced; it must be dissected, analysed and exposed.

A World to Win boldly proclaims its heritage and its ideology: Marx, Engels, Lenin, Stalin and Mao are the great leaders of the world proletarian revolution. Marxism-Leninism-Mao Tsetung Thought remains our tool for analysing and changing the world. But A World to Win will never rest content to simply reclaim the glorious moments of our movement or to simply analyse mistakes of the past—however important both these tasks are. Developments in the world constantly pose new problems demanding new analyses, new debates, and, above all, new solutions. A World to Win strives to be the indispensable tool for all those engaged in proletarian revolution.

A World to Win is currently published in several languages and plans call for it to be published in many more in the near future. Its network of contributors stretch over all six continents, and what A World to Win lacks in financial means, official distribution channels, and technique are more than compensated by its greatest asset—the active and enthusiastic collaboration of men and women engaged in revolutionary combat in all its forms, be it in the guerrilla zones in Peru, the struggle to develop the mass movements against imperialist war preparations in the West and direct them against the system itself, or the efforts to take advantage of the developing revolutionary situation in India and prepare to launch a People's War that could reverberate throughout the world.

A World to Win has nothing to rely upon except the masses: and so we call upon class conscious workers, peasants, revolutionary intellectuals—all those throughout the world who refuse to accept the old order and are contributing to building the new—to step forward and help sharpen and wield this new weapon.
