U.S. IMPERIALISM
HANDS OFF IRAN

November 4, Iran—Hundreds of thousands of militant Iranians took to the streets in a massive demonstration to commemorate the 80 who had been murdered by the Shah's imperial troops just one year ago at Tehran University. As the bloody butcher himself rested comfortably in a New York's Cornell Medical Center Hospital safely in the arms of his masters, the streets in Iran thundered with chants "Death to the Shah!" 500 demonstrators peeled off from the march and swarmed into the U.S. Embassy, taking 60 U.S. personnel hostage and demanding the return of the Shah to Iran to face punishment at the hands of the Iranian people for the monstrous and unspeakable crimes he has committed against them on behalf of U.S. imperialism. Crimes so numerous and despicable that no punishment could really be considered enough.

In response to the Embassy takeover, the U.S. bourgeoisie has launched a massive and insidiously planned barrage of chauvinistic anti-Iranian and warmongering propaganda. They have used their press to the fullest to create reactionary public opinion by portraying every piece of patriotic slime they spew out as coming from a spontaneous and unrehearsed outpouring of bloodlust from "average American citizens." They have had the full range of their paid flunkeys and political prostitutes from congressmen to trade union hacks working overtime in this effort.

In Houston, Texas, businesses, banks and construction sites let off their workers for a rally where 1500 people, including many from organized reactionary groups, burned Iranian flags, demanding "Invade Iran" and "Iranians out of the U.S." and chanting "We love the Shah." The rally was called by the hastily formed American Citizens Committee, and it's not hard to guess who the sponsors are, since Houston is the world headquarters for Gulf, Pennzoil and Texaco. Radio stations like KIKK spent the whole day spewing out calls for the rally, and the TV stations reveled at the welcome sight of well-dressed secretaries screaming for Iranian blood and carrying signs reading "Camel Jockeys Go Home." In light of all the build-up for this rally, even letting people off work, 1500 was actually a small turnout.

In West Virginia, a radio station received a message from someone (it could have been anyone) saying that a...

"The famous Kennedy mystique. What's behind it? What's the substance? Behind it: the millions and millions of dollars that old Joe Kennedy spent running Wall Street speculator and stock manipulator, spent to put his sons into public office. The myst

Messagf from the Communist Party of Turkey (Marxist-Leninist)

The RCP, USA received the following message from the Communist Party of Turkey (Marxist-Leninist) Central Committee.

October 25, 1979

Dear Comrades of the RCP, USA,

We condemn the slanderous attacks of the U.S. imperialist bourgeoisie on your Party. The U.S. monopoly bourgeoisie can not stand the revolutionary voice your Party has raised.

This is because the U.S. bourgeoisie oppresses and exploits the proletariat and the toiling masses in your country. This is because the U.S. imperialism, being one of the greatest imperialist powers in the world, is oppressing and ruthlessly sucking the blood of so many peoples of the world on the one hand and is fanning the fire of anti-imperialist revolution around the world on the other. The imperialist bourgeoisie is not only the enemy of the proletariat in your country, but is also one of the enemies of the oppressed peoples of the world.

As a consequence of such a class nature, the U.S. imperialists are in fraternal solidarity with the Chinese revisionists. The aim of the U.S. Imperialists Is to dominate the big Chinese market, and convert China, if it can, into its semi-colony. The U.S. imperialists are also after strengthening the imperialist military and conspiratorial methods to open attacks on democracy and to strangle a fascist dictatorship. The revolutionary task now is to heighten the political consciousness and reveal the politically reactionary nature of the monopolist bourgeoisie to the working masses by using such attacks on your Party.

We believe that both your demonstration to protest Deng's visit to the USA and your struggle to reveal the political reactionary nature of the U.S. bourgeoisie is a great support to the revolutionary struggles waged against Chinese counter-revolution and U.S. Imperialism all over the world. We declare to the working class of the U.S. and Turkey that our Party wholeheartedly supports the RCP, USA's campaign to set the defenders of Mao Zedung free and stop the harassment of Comrade Bob Avakian.

The MORIBUND IMPERIALIST BOURGEOISIE CAN NOT STOP THE REVOLUTIONARY STRUGGLES OF THE RCP, USA AND COMRADE BOB AVAKIAN!

DOWN WITH IMPERIALISM, SOCIAL IMPERIALISM AND ALL KINDS OF Reaction!

LONG LIVE THE REVOLUTIONARY STRUGGLES OF THE WORLD'S PROLETARIAT AND OPPRESSED PEOPLES!

PROLETERIANS OF ALL COUNTRIES AND THE OPPRESSED PEOPLES, UNITE!

Judge Denies Everything At D.C. Hearing

Washington, D.C. On Wednesday, November 7, court convened in what defense attorney believed was to be a pre-trial hearing of several defense motions and other issues raised by the defense in the case of Bob Avakian and the 16 other Mao Tsetung defendants, Bob Avakian and the other defendants—up ped from a single misdemeanor charge to 25 felony counts of assaulting police officers against each of the 17 defendants. Defense motions before the court at this hearing were aimed at cutting through this thick skin by seeking proof locked up in files at the White House and in the plush inner offices of the FBI that, in fact, the police black on the January 29th demonstration against Teng Hsiao-ping was directed by the highest U.S. government authorities themselves.

Opening the hearing on the defendants' motions which is based on a legal procedure through which defendants can try to advance their trial certain information about the government's case against them, the judge ruled against the defendants on almost every single aspect of their motions. He denied access to statements made by the defendants to known and unknown police

Double Trouble for Bolivia Coup

Bolivia was the scene of the third major upheaval in the last four months in Latin America as a right wing coup was staged by a military strong man, Col. Alberto Naranjo Busch on November 1. Bolivia witnessed the short-lived military government (the first in 12 years) of Walter Guevara Arce. Immediately after the coup, Bolivia was called by the million-strong Bolivian Workers' Central (COB), effectively shut down the entire country. Tanks shelled the COB headquarters, trying to intimidate the hundreds of demonstrators who gathered outside. T-33 jet fighters roared and machine guns blazed, but the COB did not stop the widespread opposition to the junta.

In the capital city of La Paz, workers and students tore up the pavement and erected barricades against advancing tanks and armored cars. In a working class suburb, protestors blew up a bridge and fired back against troops. Fierce street fighting broke out. Six people were killed the first day of the coup and at least 100 people were gassed down by the military in the days after the coup. The destruction of a counter coup fill the air as COB. Naranjo failed in his attempt to form a new ruling coalition.

The U.S. response to the coup, the 19th since 1961, was swift. U.S. State Dept. spokesman Tom Reston said, "It is regrettable that this military coup has taken place. We hope the Bolivian people's yearning for democracy is not drowned in blood by the junta and its U.S. masters." The U.S. has kept its promise to overthrow the previous military dominated government, but it has not been enough to prevent another military dominated government.

This opposition from the U.S. government, of course, is due to U.S. Motto for El Salvador: If One Coup Won't Do, Try Two!

On November 2, Adolfo Arnoldo Majano, one of El Salvador's made in U.S. puppets, was overthrown by a military coup led by a military strong man, Col. Jesus Busch overthrew the short-lived civilian government. On November 4, the U.S.-backed regime in the country was restored. The coup was supported by the U.S. government. It is obvious that the options open to U.S. imperialism are shrinking. President Jimmy Carter and Brown are proposing renewal of direct military aid to all the U.S. puppet governments in the area. On November 4, the U.S.-backed regime in Honduras staged another coup. This move was the third coup staged by a military strong man in El Salvador, after the coup staged by a military strong man, Col. Naranjo Busch in Bolivia. The coup in El Salvador is an attempt to stabilize the coup-prone country.

The U.S. response to the coup, the 19th since 1961, was swift. U.S. State Dept. spokesman Tom Reston said, "It is regrettable that this military coup has taken place. Chester, S.C.—Right up in the face of a coordinated attack against this struggle by the ruling class of the U.S. and host countries, 500 people hit the streets of Chester, S.C. on November 3rd, for a powerful demonstration against the lynching of Black youth Mickey Muhammed.

Starting at the back country site of Chester, people began the march by passing through nine miles of rural country where Black and white workers live. People picked up the chant of, "Mickey's dead, killers go free, that's what the rich call democracy." As they passed through the streets, protesters turned into a collective chant and formed a line through nine miles of rural country where Black and white workers live. People picked up the chant of, "Mickey's dead, killers go free, that's what the rich call democracy." As they passed through the streets, protesters turned into a collective chant and formed a line.

Halfway through the march, these cops got a chance to prove their role in earnest. A lone reactionary in paramilitary clothes sat down on his front porch, pointing a rifle at the demonstrators and screaming, "shut up." Immediately these cops ran to protect him as the enraged marchers chanted, "Cops and the Klan are the same damn thing. May their hearts be stronger, faster, and hotter, and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) marshals had trouble keeping people from running across the street to tear this reactionary limb from limb."

In the streets of Chester, South Carolina, November 3rd, the Black youth dead on the other--initiatives that are being shattered by this struggle.

The rally was held at the courthouse. Early in the program, a woman who spoke from the RCP began her speech by breaking the news of the Klan massacre of anti-Klan demonstrators in Greensboro, NC. The reaction was one of shock and it happened at exactly the same time that the Chester, South Carolina rally was happening.

Replies to RCP

Dear "Revolutionary" Communists of the U.S.

We shall answer your letter in a personal manner before we resort to fliers or letters on your organization. It is in this context that we will raise the question of the term "revolutionaries" and their place in the struggle. This is the point that we would like to raise the question of the term "revolutionaries" and their place in the struggle.

In your letter you began an analysis of how the world serves as a summit for the world and how the struggle for the world is the struggle of people. We agreed generally with the analysis, however we felt that your analysis was too isolated and too mechanistic. We are sure that the power of the enemy will never be defeated by harsh ideological sloganeering and call out that there will be no revolution until there is a revolution in the minds of the people. We firmly believe that the enemy will never be defeated by harsh ideological sloganeering and call out that there will be no revolution until there is a revolution in the minds of the people.

We of the Black United Front are working to define the struggle and to combat racism in the world. We believe that the struggle of people is the struggle of all people. We are working to combat racism in the world. We believe that the struggle of people is the struggle of all people.

We are glad to see that you generally agree with the analysis, however, we felt that your analysis was too isolated and too mechanistic. We are sure that the power of the enemy will never be defeated by harsh ideological sloganeering and call out that there will be no revolution until there is a revolution in the minds of the people. The International Communist Movement

The Second Congress of our Party called for stepped up efforts to make contact, carry on struggle and build principled unity with Marxists-Leninists in China. This is a point we must discuss seriously—and urgently. The Second Congress of the Leninist Party which has just concluded, took up the task of resolutely upholding the immortal contributions of Mao Tsetung against attacks from this quarter but have begun to make a thorough (and continuing) criticism of the dogmatic-revisionism of the Albanian Party and its hangers-on. Though this is the period in which Albania still retains some prestige as a revolutionary and Maoist party, it is not only losing some of its former standing of their importance and in our ability to work among and influence them. Mao is the vanguard force in the political struggle. But are there not other Questions? Here is another example as well. There is a need for more consistent and thorough efforts to make contact and develop a movement within the international communist movement, and we have an important role to play and responsibilities in this. This is a point we must discuss seriously. We have a very sharp and crucial struggle.

In general, it can be said that the situation today is not as bad as it was a year ago. The Chinese revisionists are widely discredited among all those who are concerned about the development of the working class, and the dogmatists-revisionists are overall losing ground among such forces; the number of organizations and parties that have taken a clear stand in support of Mao Tsetung and his contributions to Marxism—Leninism is growing. But, as the same time, the contacts and level of unity, in theory and practice, have been broken down. Even those who do not even know of (as yet) are still extremely primitive. For both these positive and negative reasons, the need for a very strong and clear-cut stand is obvious. The key to this situation stands out very starkly. The fact is, it calls for not only more consistent and systematic exchanges and increasing practical support, and unity in struggle. It calls for a step by step that constantly analysis, and another that constantly putting forward new propaganda, and another that constantly putting forward new propaganda that challenges the revisionist rulers. China is growing, but, as the same time, the contact and level of unity, both in theory and practice, have been broken down. Even the Chinese comrades who do not even know of (as yet) are still extremely primitive.

Similarly, for some, prophecies internationally, that would not mean that it would be impossible for us (or others) to make revolution (in this country or others). But, for some, it is not a question of whether we can or cannot make revolution, but rather of whether the leadership of class in this country is one part of the international army of the world proletariat, and we should make revolution. And for some, the primary strength of unity of concrete unity among Marxists-Leninists to a principle is to defeat the present tendency of break, and further development of such unity will greatly enhance the revolutionary struggle in each country and international.

The United Front and Proletarian Leadership

The Second Congress (1978) criticized the "labor aristocrat" outlook and automatically creates a revolutionary movement, including tendencies in our Party. In particular, the importance of carrying out work among the poor was emphasized, while it was pointed out that the poor were not the same people, and that the work among the poor was not the same. A step by step that constantly analysis, and another that constantly putting forward new propaganda that challenges the revisionist rulers. China is growing, but, as the same time, the contact and level of unity, both in theory and practice, have been broken down. Even the Chinese comrades who do not even know of (as yet) are still extremely primitive.

line and work of our Party—there is both the necessity and the opportunity to do so. This is, in a sense, this point, to be much greater than it was in the Battle of the Disunited front (the time of the call for revolutionary May Day 1980 was issued) and that our work to build it must be carried out—beginning immediately, perhaps even more intensively than it was advantageous now with this understanding and on that basis unleashing them to broadly and boldly build this campaign.

If things are not understood and built in this way, then how are we going to pass the test of the May 1st call? Did we do it? Do we do it now? As Lenin said, “the time for this revolutionary demonstration is now.” Why? Exactly, to emphasize and strengthen, in practice, the revolutionary class-conscious role of the working class, and the role of the Party in relation to it. The proposal that trade unions are mass organizations of the workers, and especially when and to the degree that they become the key class organizations of the advanced workers against involving masses of workers, it is absolutely necessary to carry out broad and all-around revolutionary work to raise the Party’s influence as the leading social-political force, to organize and mobilize all the working class for the dictatorship of the proletariat. Lenin described the decisive question for the working class, an indispensable requirement and prerequisite for the ultimate success of the struggle. This is to decide which side to disagree with Lenin’s whole thesis in What Is To Be Done? and share in opposition to it the economic interests. Some—very many—of these opportunities present themselves in our current struggle between the “Left-Wing Communism,” to justify their position. But what does Lenin actually say there? He does, in fact, say that, as one prominent feature of the labor movement “must be waged ruthlessly, and it must be the decisive one at all stages, for where one point is the exhaustible leaders of opposition and social-chauvinism are completely discredited and discredited (by the revolutionary struggle) among the working class.” (What Is To Be Done? p. 43). But he immediately follows this statement with the important conclusion: “Political power cannot by itself be turned into the overwhelming majority of the proletariat.” (What Is To Be Done? p. 43). But he immediately follows this statement with the important conclusion: “Political power cannot be made until the struggle has reached a certain point. Lenin very carefully and conscientiously does not say “Thus been completed.” In fact, he emphasizes that the communists and the communists cannot win the leadership of the trade unions and the allegiance of the all working people in the USSR by the making oneself the tool of the rulers, by being a tool of the Komsomol (and if they want to remain communists). And it is with this understanding that the NUWO must be a place and a building of the struggle of the working class, and especially within the reformist trade unions, that we must be able in the upcoming period to set the Nash’s workers and the dead-end of reformism; but because the Party must consistently strive, right from the beginning, to carry out broad mass work to build the basis and open up for communists to work among them, to unite with them in this same ideological struggle. And, Lenin insists, this means that communists must not be made to carry out broad mass work to build the basis and open up for communists to work among them, to unite with them in this same ideological struggle.

Economic Struggle

But what about the economic struggle? It has been very long time now since the economic struggle with communists in the form of (one or another version of) the “center of gravity line.” This includes the idea of “playing patting” and organizing the trade unions and trying to get the mass of workers to carry out the economic struggle against the capitalist system. And in criticizing this latter idea, it has been pointed out that, in fact, the economic struggle does not move, as Marx and Engels sharpened and especially in the context of the development of a crisis of capitalism. This, of course, does not mean that in such circumstances it will then be correct to make the economic struggle our “center of gravity.” Rather, in such circumstances there will be many instances where economic struggles become militant battles, and more fundamentally, they will be fought not only in the economic sphere, but also in the political sphere. On the part of conscious workers as well as other workers, we naturally are concerned that the Party is actually developing economic struggles into political struggles (the oil workers in Iran is a sharp example of this, while in the USSR, for example, in the context of a developing revolutionary situation and struggle).

As Lenin pointed out in What Is To Be Done? and elsewhere, the economic struggle, and the economic forces, only become effective if they are able to struggle backward workers into struggle against the bourgeoisie, even though on the most elementary level, the Party must struggle to unite the backward workers and the working class in the broad scale in the trade unions. But further, and only, is it not a prerequisite for revolutionary work and revolutionary success in the sense of some kind of principle to fall into opposition. Stalin spoke directly and courageously in the context of the German Communist Party in the late 1920’s.

* The RCP’s founding congress in 1975 adopted the line that the economic struggles around wages and working conditions should be the main focus of the Party’s work. This led to the development of a “Right-Wing” element in the Party that has split into the “theory of political struggles without economic struggles” and the “correct” line of the Party. This was clarified in the Party Congress in 1979. This line was criticized and revolutionized in 1979. (To be continued)

Bob Avakian on Radio WBAI N.Y., Part One

Two Class Outlooks on Rebellion

The following is the first of a two-part series based on a radio interview with Bob Avakian on New York station WBAI. This part deals with the struggle which erupted in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area after the murder of Luis Baez by the New York police, and the role of the Revolutionary Communist Party in that struggle. The second part of the series will appear in next week's issue of the Revolutionary Worker.

Interviewer: The only specific that I can find in terms of how you've dealt with the question of national oppression is most interesting to me, and this comes out of a number of leaflets that I saw recently in the Bedford-Stuyvesant community where a young Puerto Rican man was shot 16 times by New York's finest. His name was Luis Baez, and there was a leaflet put out that was called, "Rebellion is Great," and there was some general glorification of the fact that there is immiseration and murder and genocide being perpetrated on a people, and it began to talk about such things as "getting down in what is the festival of the oppressed"—interesting language—but what happened in there and was interesting was that many of the Black organizations that led the rally to protest the murder of Luis Baez would not be interested in seeing the RCP in that community any more because they acted as provocateurs.

Here were police who were armed against people who were unarmed in what was a tremendously difficult and tense situation. Here was a leaflet that was put out that essentially was critical of the leadership of the people who had consistently in this city, the Black people, fought against national oppression in all its forms, police brutality and white vigilantism, being criticized for going easy when they were trying to prevent their people from getting killed when confronted by the armed might of the state.

B.A.: Well, you see, when we get this charge of provocateur, it always comes down to the fact that it comes from middle-class elements who accuse us of this when we refuse to stand on the side and tremble at the power of the ruling class and instead unite with the people who themselves, with or without us, with or without any other forces, were spontaneously going into the streets to rise up to fight back against the murderous tactics and the policies of the police. The question is, when the masses go into motion, when they go into the streets spontaneously, do you stand with them, do you go into their ranks, do you applaud what they're doing and point toward the solution which is revolution or do you stand off to the side trembling and saying, oh the poor pitiful, helpless masses of people, if they try to do anything, if they try to fight back in any way, the state will just come down on them and crush them and wipe them out entirely, so we must stand to the side and call anyone a provocateur who dares to unite with them in that struggle.

The same thing happened in Houston, Texas, when the Chicano movement, or we're going back to 1978 around Cinco de Mayo. The RCP was the only organization right into the thick of that struggle and upheld it fully and called on people to come forward and join and support that struggle. All these reformists and other people, even some who were well intentioned but were, from their middle-class position, frightened by the power of the state and saw no strength in the masses, tried in fact to divert the struggle of the masses away from the righteous actions of the masses and apologize for it, you know, whine about it or try to hustle and pimp off it in some cases. And then, they came down and called us provocateurs. But the masses of the Chicano people in that city rallied to the support of the Moody Park 3, who were supporters of our Party, precisely because those Moody Park 3 did not stand back and criticize. It's the same thing Mao brought up in 1927 in China. The peasants in China rose up with their hoes and their spades and their primitive weapons against the armed forces of the landlords and the central government and so on, and as Mao pointed out, even the many so-called communists moaned and whined, criticized the masses, saying that this is terrible, they're going too far, it's too much of an excess, the people supporting them should not support them, it's just provocation—they're bound to get crushed. And Mao said all such people have no right to call themselves communists or revolutionaries or leaders of the people in their fight against oppression. It didn't take us to tell the people to fight back against these murdering police—what we did was different than the other groups was to unite with them in doing so, and yes, when the people rise up against their oppressors, we unite with them.

The people in Iran went out against the Shah's army for weeks and months and were shot down, but the revolutionaries and the people themselves were not weeping and moaning over that, they were inspired and came forward—each time one was shot down, ten people came forward to take their place. What stand should revolutionaries take? Say, wait a minute, don't riot up, the Shah's got a powerful army, you'll just get killed. Were the communists provocateurs in Iran for standing in the midst of that and calling for revolution?
FBI Red Hunt Defied at Defense Plant

Dayshift, October 8, 1979 at McDonnell-Douglas in Huntington Beach, Calif., largest defense contractor in Orange County, was the site of a white collar raid last week that was unexpected. The supervisor told a worker suspected of taking a leaflet at the plant to: "You will do it if you know what's good for you." Several supervisors had been dispatched to tap workers on the shoulder and repeat the threatening "offer." They moved on to those who worked near wearing a button proclaiming: "Stop the Railroad of Bob Avakian," and to others who were: "suspected of having associated with" members of the National United Workers Organization (NUWO).

The inquisition stretches through the day. Behind the inquisition doors, a panel of supervisor and FBI agents into this facility was in February immediately following the demonstration in Washington D.C. against Teng Hsiao PIng and his U.S. masters. Palestinian xposes

Andy Young

On Saturday, November 3 the Oper- ation PUSH hall in Golden Gate Park was an attentive audience, largely Black with a strong representation from the Palestinian movement. Many people tuned to hear Andy Young discourse on their experience as a UN Delegate in Israel.

He began by excusing himself for be- ing over-zealous in taking up the "in- "rackets' line and said his state- ment discussion with a PLO leader. "In doing what I thought was in everyone's interest, I created a big fuss..., so I tried to do something about it—I went to apologize to the Israeli ambassador."

Who Young served then and still serves was revealed by his statement: "I guarantee that within 90 days there will be talks between Palestine and Israel. There will be an end to the occupation and the PLO and the so-called State of Israel."

Question: What do you think, specifically, are the negotiations between the PLO and the so-called State of Israel about the situation in the Middle East?

Answer: Let me give you an idea. Andy Young, as we know, used to be the U.S. Ambassador to the U.N. He is the only person who seems to be moving on the part of the Palestinians to recognize Israel. And he ended up in the PLO meeting and said, "This is a signal, when you say 'We are the Big Power, the U.S. Ambassador to the U.N. And it is trying to establish a way in which they can do something about it—I went to apologize to the Israeli ambassador."'

Young assured that within 90 daysclient will have a chance to negotiate with the Palestinians and the Israelis. However, Young failed to mention that the Israelis have rejected these talks.

STATEMENT

In a statement released on November 9, 1979, Revolutionary Worker revealed the truth about Operation Pusch and the war on the Palestinians. The statement read:

"This war is about the control of resources. It is not about the defense of Israel, despite what the U.S. government would have you believe. This war is about the control of the resources of the Middle East, particularly oil.

"The Palestinians are not only the leadership but are the people who are carrying on the arm- mament, training, financial support, and the ideological support of the Zionist machine in occupation. As far as I can understand, the Israelis are using their power to dominate this region, not to guarantee human rights or freedom of speech.

"This war is not about peace. It is about the control of resources, and the creation of a new world order that benefits only the wealthy and powerful.

"We must stand in solidarity with the Palestinians and work towards a just and lasting solution to this ongoing conflict. We cannot let this war continue unchecked."
attempted to divert the major hour of the rally and march away from the Black United Front, a leadership that had indeed organized that event, there were very few of the people that were there. The criticism, by the way, in terms of a pro-vocateur action did not come from within Black-middle-class people but in fact from the Black organization that had constituted the leadership of that demonstration.

B.A.: From Black middle-class people?

Interviewer: Uh, I hardly would think that organizations such as the Black United Front would be so apt to understand the derogatory implication that you're giving those black middle-class people.

B.A.: Let's clear this up.

Interviewer: Well, it's not derogatory but scientific.

B.A.: Well, I'm saying that your facts were incorrect, that you were criticized by the Black community, that you were taking defensive action with the people in and around the Black United Front from within and to the degree and on the night that they stood with the masses in actually fighting back against their oppression. I'm not swearing at them by the way, by the way. The point here is that an analysis of an analysis of their position is that the outlook of the state and the standing in the bayonets, to talk about their blood, because essentially it's their community and they live with the day-to-day state of oppression and immiseration that they were not of the same level to speak from. As a matter of fact, you're other people are faced with the condition of genocide, and I mean that in its whole characterization of who was in its whole relation to those people who were unprepared to deal with the leadership of the Black United Front from that the majority of the people were with them to try to avoid the confrontation that they were not impressed by the dignity and that which will give them the opportunity to fight for yet another day. What you have to set into it, 'cause we'd also like to take some that calls very soon. Bob, you took a little bit about the situation with China.

But let's take the Black Panther Party, which was a very active organization basing itself among the most oppressed so that's been black people, and I'm very familiar with some of the mistakes that they made. For example, I was at one meeting where they were agitating for and people were not coming to the meeting because their organizations that were a relative handful of youth who were far more articulate than the leadership of the Black United Front. From that the majorities of the people were with them to try to avoid the confrontation that they were unprepared for and the dignity and that which will give them the opportunity to fight for yet another day. What you have to set into it, 'cause we'd also like to take some that calls very soon. Bob, you took a little bit about the situation with China.

Prisoners Stand with Bob Avakian

To the Revolutionary Worker,

Right in the middle of the Chinese gymnast's program, four of us jumped the fence at the Coliseum and ran to the field, and unfurled our banner: "Teng Hsiao-ping Capitalist Whore—We Stand with Mao and the Four—" and the second banner, "Stop the Railroad of Bob Avakian—Free the Mao Tsetung Defendants." As a horror of security and secret service swooped down, one of us was able to throw a Red Book that skidded across the floor and came to rest at the feet of the Chinese Delegation...

On the subject of this evening, prisoners were divided as to whether they were doing the right thing. To the Revolutionary Worker we'd managed to sneak in, and debated revolution, the attacks on the Mao Tsetung Defendants, communism, the role of Bob Avakian, and other questions on religion and philosophy ranging from the Pope's visit to Mao Tsetung. A Vietnam veteran told us as he had read Mao before. "If you don't hit it, it won't fall, right?" he and quoting Mao. A conspiracy was taking shape. Come 7:30 Saturday night a growing number of prisoners were organizing others to hear the Chairman speak. At 7:45 about 40 of us gathered around the TV in the dining room to check out the show. On the other side of the bars sat the guards, who were looking like hell to figure out why so many people had gotten so interested in Star Trek. By the time the guards figured this stuff out the show was drawing to a close. They pulled the plug on the TV and used the excuse that they "smelled reverber", but it was too late. Some lives were changed after that, we could have been the crushing of the rebellions in the holds of slave ships, because issues are daily, not just when a rebellion—that these things were wrong or that they could only rise up against the enemy you're liable to get hit back; It's ridiculous—these things are slanders on our Party. We are proud and we will never deny that we stood with the masses of people in what they did that night, and when they went up against the police we did not shy away from that, we didn't run in the opposite direction and cover ourselves with a lot of excuses and pious generalities about tactics, and it's not the right time, and stuff like that. We're damn proud that we stood with the people, with what they did, because revolutionaries always stand with the masses when they go up against the enemy, whether the conditions are favorable or unfavorable.

A.B.A: We just want to say that the women in our Party hold exactly the same views as the men. We stand with Mao, we stand with Bob Avakian, we stand with the revolutionary workers and the Mao Tsetung Defendants. We stand with Mao and the Four—" and the second banner, "Stop the Railroad of Bob Avakian—Free the Mao Tsetung Defendants." As a horror of security and secret service swooped down, one of us was able to throw a Red Book that skidded across the floor and came to rest at the feet of the Chinese Delegation...

Interviewer: Okay, we can move on to the next phone call now. Hi, is this WBAI?

Caller: Yeah, hi. Going back to the police riot in Brooklyn around the Late Night matter. WBAI. I see passing out a lot of newspapers and stuff and you know trying to pull people away from the main body of the demonstration where we had security in numbers and some idea of where we were going and what we're doing, going into very segmented groups of people and had nothing to do with really the rally or community organizing or working throughout the number of years of us that were there; and trying to get us into a situation where the police can come in with their cars and totally, you know, annihilate everyone there, and it was just a total unbelievable that such a small handful of people, regardless of the wishes of the majority, power and even more, and what I think comes through even more clearly, is the trembling at the power of the masses and their potential strength when they begin to rise up—this is what frightens middle-class radicals, and this is not a question of insulting but it's analyzing scientifically, progressively liberals, who we think can be won over. But they can only be won over on the basis that people stand with and base themselves on the strength and potential power of the masses. Because it is precisely the middle-class radicals who are frightened of the state and even more so, frightened of the uprising of the masses, because they see themselves caught in the middle and feel powerless, which as a class they are, powerless to deal with the situation.

Interviewer: Well, I must admit my own comment to that, if I may, is that frankly the armed might of the state is frightening, rebellion is frightening, people do what they have to in order to accomplish constructive social change, and socialist revolution if you will, but blood again is not something to glorify in and the whole kind of macho approach that you seem to be using, which is that we fight harder and more than you do, no me is not answering or responding to the questions that have been asked the two copies of the paper, and the Mao Tsetung Defendants. We stand with Mao, we stand with Bob Avakian, we stand with the revolutionary workers and the Mao Tsetung Defendants. We stand with Mao and the Four—" and the second banner, "Stop the Railroad of Bob Avakian—Free the Mao Tsetung Defendants." As a horror of security and secret service swooped down, one of us was able to throw a Red Book that skidded across the floor and came to rest at the feet of the Chinese Delegation...

Interviewer: All right. We will not use the word "macho" then. I think it's opportunist. Can we move on to the next question, please?

Dear Cindy the Revolutionary Workers,

Thank you for your letter of September 5th. You might be interested to know that, of all the hate groups I've been interested in,

I was tempted to play the "Ol' Byron Silverstat" tape a while longer, but you appear to be fairly intelligent and so I'm going to cut the crap and see if you can take the next step-ward actually engaging in an intelligent dialogue with an opponent rather than simply repeating your letter words at me like you do to car rallies in an effort to make your presence and inability to support an attack on the community of Tilton, New Hampshire, almost all of non-Communist in Tilton, and I was told to kill the cream of product, although we put a few in the hospital and we nearly killed some of your people. And just why did you have to stir up the trouble center we'd wasted a couple of you and some of them would want—don't you ever try to mess with our people on private property or you will be put in a very bad position. I am so glad you know if you have any of your convictions to put to the test. I'm asking you to make us stand up for our right to co-operate across this border.

Yours for the future, began to tail it while radioing information to headquarters. Headquarters decided not to pull the cars over—after all, nothing illegal was being done.

The cops in the area of the demonstration were not notified by headquarters that this caravan was approaching.

With the police surveillance car in tail, the caravan pulled up to the project and began hurling insults at the people there. "Here we are, niggers." "Come on over and get us!"

The enraged crowd began chanting "Death to the Klan" and charged the Klansmen in the car. Some of the demonstrators continued to surge towards them.

While TV cameras panned the whole scene and photographers snapped roll of film, the other Klansmen calmly stepped out of the nearby car, opening a trunk as if to get out a picnic basket, but instead pulled out rifles, shotguns and pistols. They began a cold-blooded massacre.

One rifleman coolly leaned across the hood of his car, aiming accurately for the people-and all that stands in its way. The squad maced and then clubbed them to the ground, several killed instantly, others severely wounded. Some continued to charge the fascists with their sticks, while others with small handguns at their sides stood in shock. Bullets bounced off the walls, shattered car windows, and ricocheted off trees. Few of the unarmed people had dodged for cover before the massacre ended.

Damn the Klan and the Capitalist Hand Behind Them! Never Forget or Forget the Greensboro Massacre!
The men in the upper right picture look like they are pulling beer out of a car trunk on a Saturday afternoon at the park. In fact, they are about to pull out their guns and methodically shoot into the crowd at the Greensboro anti-Klan rally on November 3. The reason they look calm becomes clear when you put the two together: these are the men who were at Greensboro in a similar role in October.

The image is accompanied by a press release titled "Cops/Greensboro Killers Plotted Together." The release reads:

"The vicious massacre of 5 demonstrators at last Saturday's anti-Klan rally was an unusual incident carried out by an isolated band of racists who had no purpose but to wildly kill. This fact is borne out sharply by a letter received by the Revolutionary Communist Party dated Sept. 1, 1979, signed by Harold A. Covington, Deputy Nazi Party leader of the National Socialist Party of America-Nazis. Following several pages of the racist, fascist trash this organization is well known for, Covington revealed his real purpose in sending the letter: "By the by," the letter concludes, "almost all of my men have killed Communists in Vietnam and I was in Rhodesia as well, but so far we've never had a chance to kill the home-grown product, although we've put a few in the hospital and we nearly killed some of your people at China Grove last July—we had it all worked out with the cops, that if you were dumb enough to try to attack the community center, we'd waste a couple of you and none of us would see anything."

This open death threat is revealing in two ways. First, it clearly shows the intentions and purpose of the Nazis and fascist gangs against revolutionaries. Secondly, and this is the most important point, it clearly shows the cooperation between such fascist groups and the cops and the higher authorities above them. If this wasn't so, why were the cops so obviously absent during the massacre while in Dallas an army of them escorted 50 Klansmen through a crowd of 2,000 hecklers? Anyone but a fool or liar would know what was going on here, and the letter to the RCP from Covington is further proof of that.

Not only that, but in the past several months the cops, the Klan, and the Nazis have been working overtime to create a climate of fear in North Carolina. When Bob Avakian, Chair of the Revolutionary Communist Party, who is himself facing 211 years on ridiculous felony charges in Washington, came to speak in Greensboro, 15 people were arrested in one week for publicizing his tour, including 10 who were arrested in Hamp on outrageous inciting to riot charges (a charge the Greensboro authorities are obviously very fond of using). The next week, Bob Sheldon, one of 16 other Mao Tseung Dzen- dants who face the same charges as Comrade Avakian, was viciously beaten with his girlfriend outside his home in Durham by a gang of 6 thugs with blackjacks. Then last Saturday, 40 laps of street racers carried out an elaborate systematic well-planned massacre here in Greensboro. One thing we can say for sure: the blood-drenched hand of the state is pulling the strings on all these attacks.

This is no unprecedented thing. In Germany, Adolf Hitler rose to power on a wave of terror as thousands of communists were massed by his goons. In Turkey this year the government unleashed a wave of terror against fascist gangs against revolutionaries.
On "August, 1979,„ 16

On August 8th, 1979, Assistant the Revolutionary Worker in Earol Covington, Deputy Nazi Party leader to Chicago's Frank Collin, Covington, too, is a is with the U.S. government—in the past he was in Vietnam, Angola and Rhodesia. Every in have lived in Miami, and friends have told me that Covington is a very open and transparent. He "Almost all my men have killed Communists in Vietnam and I was in Rhodesia as well, but so far we've never had a chance to kill the home-grown product, although we've put in a few in the hospital and we nearly killed some of the cop's, that if you were dumb enough to try to attack the community center, we'd waste a couple of you and none of them would see anything.

This open death threat is revealing in two ways. First, it clearly shows the intentions and purpose of the Nazis and Klan despite their current phony pronouncements that they had no intentions of shooting. Secondly, and this is the most important point, it clearly shows the cooperation between such fascist groups and the cops and the higher authorities above them. If this weren't so, why were the cops so obviously absent during the massacre while in Dallas an array of them escorted 50 KLANmen through a crowd of 2,000 hecklers? Then last Saturday, 9 carloads of stormtroopers carried out a systematic well-planned massacre here in Greensboro. One thing we can say for sure: the blood-drenched hand of the state is pulling the strings on all these attacks.

This is no unprecedented thing. In Germany, Adolf Hitler rose to power on a wave of terror as thousands of communists were massacred by his goons. In Turkey this year the government has unleashed a wave of terror by fascist gangs against revolutionary forces. The capitalists have two purposes for unleashing this kind of terror. The first is to try to physically wipe out or smash left and revolutionary forces. The second is to sow confusion among the people, creating a picture of "crazies from the left and right killing each other," while the capitalists sit in their mansions smelling sweet.

The Revolutionary Communist Party once again firmly condemns these brazen, brutal murders by the Klan and Nazis, and the obvious role of the police and their bosses. The RCP, as has been stated before, has serious, deep disagreements with the Communist Workers Party, who called the demonstration over many major political questions. These differences have been and will continue to be made clear in our Party's press, the Revolutionary Worker. But in the face of this vicious attack the question of right and wrong is clear and our contempt is reserved for the Klan and the highest authorities behind them. The RCP calls on the people of all nationalities to take the political offensive against this vicious attack.

any concern for advancing the struggle of the Black people. The real U.S. concern is to prevent the growth of a Pan-African movement that could irreversibly erode and radicalize or repress or drive other solutions. All of these efforts do not mean that this repression could, he says, later in the same breath, be "liberalized." The apparent U.S. rush to support "democratic governments" in Latin America after years of maintaining the open bloody military dictatorships shows only a deep-seated fear that countries like Bolivia might join the growing list of Nicaragua and Iran. While world imperialism is most strategically located in the center of Latin America, receives one of the highest priority adjudges economic aid in the continent ($60 million a year). But Bolivia is wracked by an economic and political crisis. The government's own admission is that its inflation rate is over 20% and a 2.5 billion dollar foreign debt (interest payments alone total $250 million a year). It has the lowest per capita income in South America ($587 per person as opposed to Argentina's $2,467). Unemployment is running in Bolivia at 25%.

Bolivia's "liberalization" (though no fundamental change) towards blacks in Bolivia is a result of the U.S.-dominated Latin American "political freedom." Bolivia's current political climate is a reflection of the sun is ludicrous at best. In South Africa that has Botha worried. It is also the possibility of successful revolutions in Bolivia. But of course, in the eyes of world imperialism, the development of a first-class revolutionary movement in Bolivia, as South Africa's blacks and workers are doing, has the potential of dismantling South Africa and having to face the full political repercussions that would result from openly supporting the Bolivian revolution.

Anybody about what's going on in that country are a big part of the reason that the U.S. reconstituted the repressive Bolivian regime, the rulers in Bolivia that Colonel Natusch Suarez has been unable to keep a lid on the situation. So the Bolivian Congress appointed "definitive" or military dictator, the U.S. has used his "definitive" dictatorship to keep as many opposition movements as possible in the Andes. Bolivia's working class, the Bolivian military, the unions are trying to stop him. Suarez' past terms in office were being increasingly widespread. This "tense situation. Bolivia could organize its "stabilizing" coalition government, which it is now desperately struggling to do. It means that it has a lot of problems these days in keeping its lackeys from falling out among themselves. They are desperately trying to keep their grip on an increasingly unstable and explosive situation. No one can predict how long Bolivia will be able to withstand the growing struggle of the masses of workers and oppressed people in Latin America and around the world. The coup in Bolivia and the virtual certainty of yet another one soon, as the U.S. tries to re-establish its non-revolutionary authority in southern Africa.

and convince them that they are stupid enough to believe whatever they tell them. I believe that our perspective is that the Black workers, the masses of people in this country are not going to be fooled or bought by anybody about anything he's going on in that area, not by Andrew Young, Jesse Jackson, or Kennedy, Ford, or even Carter . . . this is what made me stand up at PUSH and try to show the people what was going on.

Andrew Young also made the statement that there will be no pressure from within the PLO to cease all operations against the so-called State of Israel. I don't share this position, I think he can read anybody's mind. To say that he guarantees that there will be a cease-fire in the Middle East, he probably be this pressure within the PLO to cease the operations which he sees as being premature. He was careful not to say anything very fishy going on. I heard today that President Carter ordered part of the U.S. fleet to the area of the South Atlantic, to move toward Iran. They are trying to become militarily involved in Iran. This is a reflection of the sun is ludicrous at best. It is one of the reasons why the U.S. has been pushing the idea of a "coalition of the West" against Iran. This is a reflection of the sun is ludicrous at best. But of course, the Bolivians are trying to show the whole world that the U.S. isn't a real "liberalization." Bolivia could organize its "stabilizing" coalition government, which it is now desperately struggling to do. It means that it has a lot of problems these days in keeping its lackeys from falling out among themselves. They are desperately trying to keep their grip on an increasingly unstable and explosive situation. No one can predict how long Bolivia will be able to withstand the growing struggle of the masses of workers and oppressed people in Latin America and around the world. The coup in Bolivia and the virtual certainty of yet another one soon, as the U.S. tries to re-establish its non-revolutionary authority in southern Africa.

million a year). It has the lowest per capita income in South America ($587 per person as opposed to Argentina's $2,467). Unemployment is running in Bolivia at 25%.

Bolivia's "liberalization" (though no fundamental change) towards blacks in Bolivia is a result of the U.S.-dominated Latin American "political freedom." Bolivia's current political climate is a reflection of the sun is ludicrous at best. In South Africa that has Botha worried. It is also the possibility of successful revolutions in Bolivia. But of course, in the eyes of world imperialism, the development of a first-class revolutionary movement in Bolivia, as South Africa's blacks and workers are doing, has the potential of dismantling South Africa and having to face the full political repercussions that would result from openly supporting the Bolivian revolution. The situation in southern Africa is volatile and what happens there will significantly affect the relative positions of the two superpowers in the impending struggle for control. The U.S. is stepping up its involvement in southern Africa, while at the same time trying to keep as many opposition movements as possible in the Andes. Bolivia's working class, the Bolivian military, the unions are trying to stop him. Suarez' past terms in office were being increasingly widespread. This "tense situation. agents which are in the prosecutors' possession. He denied access to informants and to any of the records or actions of paid police provocateurs and informants in the ranks of the Jaycees. The government has emphatically denied access to the files, memonarda and other material in the possession of the Secret Service, the FBI, the U.S. Attorney's office, the D.C. government agencies which would clearly expose what no one even bothered to deny: that the orders to Shotwell and others were the target of ongoing, intensive surveillance by these agencies for more than a year. Shotwell stepped up with the RCP's call to demonstrate against the visit of Teng Hsiao-ping to this country last January.

rifflemen had jumped back into their vehicles and split, leaving four dead and at least ten wounded. Since then only two others have been murdered. One older white mill worker talking about Chester's jail and how every official and informant in the ranks of the Klan and Nazis. "It's just brainwashed average white youth from the neighborhood were arrested. Since then only two others have been arrested.

Immediately, the news swept the country and the world, and just as immediately the lies and distortions of the capital media were at work. The people as deadly as those the Klan and Nazis knew exactly where to target during the week before the march. After this, in the aftermath of the January 29th demonstration, mass beatings and arrests were carried out and the whole system down!" The cops and Klan plan and carry out the people as deadly as those the Klansmen and Nazis were armed to the teeth, with concealed der rifles to shoot people down, and then comes back and does the same thing. We cannot get justice under this system. Indeed, the government owns the fishpond.

The prosecutor has held from the beginning that the attempts of the defendants to seek their materials is, in the words of the defendants, "a clear showing of the defendants' right to get these materials in order to prepare their defense and to establish facts to gain these files. And the judge agreed—he ruled against this section of the defendants' motion for discovery on the grounds that information sought by the defendants was "irrelevant and material to the case. But how can it be irrelevant and immaterial to the case when the defendants expose that orders went out on the night of January 29th that anything and everything was to be done to prevent the demonstration from reaching the White House? Not only a plea at the demonstration, but beatings and drastic arrests. Bob Avakian, acting as attorney for the defense, stated that this situation quite clearly in this hearing: "The government says that we are guilty. We're going to go to court, and we hope that we are innocent so that the government owns the fishpond."

In a move aimed at beating back any defense attempts to get the materials, the judges squashed hearings and refused to lift the gag order. The defendants, Carter, Cyrus Vance, Secretary of State, William Webster, head of the FBI, and other heads of top government agencies. What the hearing on Wednesday demonstrated clearly is that there is no railroad running through the hallowed courtroom. Judge Pratt has also begun to pull the "fireman," looking the engines that will attempt to carry this train through the courtroom. And as long as there is no one who attempts to join in the efforts on the legal front to prevent this from happening.

While the judge's gag挥手 down was aimed at an effort to define the situation in defense motions, his tongue lash ed out at defense attorneys who stood up to defend their clients who had assumed the role of provocateur as the government had hoped some counsel have matters other than irritating this case on their minds," was his ruling on the motion to prevent thousands of people around D.C., including Bob Avakian and the Mao Tsetung Defen sers, from being present on the minds. Perhaps what is really foremost on their minds is freeing their clients. And for them and for growing numbers of other people every day, the results of the hearing on the legal side should only serve to underscore the need for joint efforts to accomplish just that.

The 14 Klansmen and Nazis were ar rested on Wednesday, Nov. 5 before Judge Robert Cecil in the District Court. 12 were charged with first-degree murder for each murder committed. Ar rrests were made, two were only charged with conspiracy. These fascist murders were then pointed or hired the best lawyers in the state. They were sent next to their cells without bond, in an obvious move to keep them locked up. These creeping dog martyrs to terrorize other African Americans. Virtually everyone in this world, including the murder of the Mayor and County Council, with the mouth of Chester Mayor Funder burk, which included the following:

"No more march permits if outsiders are involved. . . . There is strong sentiment among our people that Fink's the local SCLC man if he is not a com munist, his actions strongly indicated his support of communists. . . . Our people have been threatened by communists in our town last Satur day. And they have been threatened by communists in our town last Saturday. Perhaps the people have been threatened by communists in our town last Saturday.

"And what the duly elected Mayor and County Council mean by this "slander" is, 1) the exposure of the official murder of Mickey McClinton and Poag and the complicity of the authorities in this matter and 2) the Attorneys for McDinton and Chester and the fact that the masses are increasingly looking to revolutionary forces to protect the community. "This epidemic of violence has obviously struck a chord in all of the community and has caused much to be made of the time of these comrades, not only its rotten officials, but also the legal people in the legal system, and realizing the image of the "defenders of peace and democracy" and at the same time strengthen the local apparatus.

The latest issue of The Communist contains a number of articles which represent a valuable contribution to the class struggle on the theoretical front:

- Full reply to Hosha's. wretched attack on Mao Tse-Tung. While it is true that in the moment, in China after Mao's death, many revolutionaries looked to Albania with hope, but now this article shows how Enver Hoxha's new book, really is a stab in the back and betrayal of Marxism and revolution.

- Lenin's What Is To Be Done? and its role today. This book of Lenin's played a crucial role, not only in preparation for the great October socialist revolution, but in other times and places. What Lenin says here has been the subject of debate among revolutionaries throughout the 1970s.

The U.S. that set this whole thing into motion in the first place. They are open and ready to fight for and defend the system of open U.S. puppet regime as under Peres.

- The trouble is clear, whether things will turn out better or worse for them. The Iranian people have taken a strong stand.

Khomeini has been forced by the struggle of the masses to take a stand that the Shah must be returned to Iran, but he has only gone along with the Shah to avert the catastrophe necessarily to maintain the support of the people. He is playing the same role as he has played all along, riding the crest of the most subtle struggle while trying to keep a lid on it. All this has kept Khomeini from advancing the revolution. After the initial Embassy takeover, Khomeini ordered a halt and the rest of the spectacle, calling any further acts "CIA-inspired." His current demagogic support for the Shah, and the U.S. is still being superimposed on the Iranian people.

But even though many of those now occupying the U.S. Embassy are staunch supporters of Khomeini, even they have forced his hand. Before Khomeini had a chance to respond, the occupation of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran has only gone along just as far as Khomeini had hinted it would.

Arafat's delegation from the PLO, among Khomeini's staunchest supporters, even though Khomeini had hinted that such negotiations might be possible. They also refused to meet with Yasser Arafat's delegation from the PLO. Arafat, whose picture often appears next to Khomeini's among Khomeini's followers, has shamelessly offered his services on behalf of the U.S. to prime the pump with the U.S. to negotiate a mini-state settlement in Israel.

As we go to press, events are developing rapidly, and the outcome of all this is by no means clear.

- The U.S. is still hoping to obtain a release of the hostages without returning the Shah. They have all along refused to return the Shah, and the Shah's offers to leave the U.S. for Mexico have been mixed by his doctors. Doctors Kissing, Carter, Rockefeller et al., that is. The Shah's offer has definitely considered plans for military intervention, they have been playing it cool, even instructing some of their more vocal voices for intervention in Congress to hush up their criticism. This may not be because of their humanitarian concern for 60 Americans.

- The anti-imperialist movement in Iran would most likely mean deep trouble for the U.S. imperialist. In the face of the hideous and truly shameful activity that has been started up since the presenthaust was begun with the Shah's overthrow. The direct intervention would also bring the Soviet Union and Cuba, which has been a decisive factor in the developing situation.

While the U.S. is sailing toward further, the anti-imperialist movement has been confusingly prepared to incinerate in a nuclear war.

- The Shah must face the wrath of the Iranian people!
